

CANDLE CARE TIPS

FUN FACTS

Not all candles are vegan!

In the old days (500 BC), candle wax was mainly made from animal products like beef fat or beeswax.

During famines, having candles stolen to be eaten by the hungry was not unusual. Candles have also been made out of wax made from insects and seeds. They were even made of spermaceti (a white waxy substance produced by the sperm whale).

The CandleFish was once used as a candle because it had such a high-fat content. They would just catch it and set it on fire as a light source. It smelled horrible!

Ancient Greeks are credited with the Westernized tradition of celebrating birthdays with a cake decorated with candles.

It initially represented the glowing moon, to the temple of Artemis (aar-tuh-muhs), the Goddess of hunting and the moon. It only became an actual "birthday tradition" in the 1700s as that's when every candle started to represent each passing year.

IT'S TRUE!

Believe it or not, there is more to burning a candle than simply lighting the wick and letting it go. Sure, you can do that, but that's very dangerous & and you might end up with a few complications like carbon collection on the wick, resulting in an unstable candle. This can lead to a dangerously large flame, your vessel overheating, cracking, and causing a fire.

BURN TIME

Don't burn your candle for more than 3 hours at a time! Once you get past the THREE-HOUR burning mark, let your candle cool & and become completely solid before TRIMMING THE WICK one-quarter inch (1/4) before the next burn.

REMINDER: Give your candle enough time to burn evenly, all around, before snuffing it out. Not doing so can cause your candle to burn unevenly, resulting in your candle tunneling down the middle.
